PREFACE TO THE FOURTH EDITION

Circumstances that neither author nor publisher could control have rendered it impossible to revise this Atlas on a scale such as both would desire, in order to meet the requirements of new methods of instruction no less than to note the vast changes that the map of the world has undergone in recent years. For the present edition the task has been limited mainly to an indication of the territorial consequences of political and military events since 1914. The author is indebted to Professor Charles H. Haskins, of Harvard University, and to other colleagues for valuable suggestions that he hopes to incorporate more adequately in subsequent editions of the work.

Among the works that have furnished material for the Atlas the following have been especially useful:

- | | |
|---|---|
| Altamira, Historia de España y de la Civilización Española | del Cantillo, Tratados, Convenios y Declaraciones de Paz y de Comercio |
| Andree, Allgemeiner Handatlas | Cheyney, A Short History of England |
| Andrews, A History of England | — Introduction to the Industrial and Social History of England |
| Archiv für Eisenbahnwesen | Colbeck, Public Schools Historical Atlas |
| Atlas Général Vidal-Lablache | Colquhoun, Greater America |
| Austin, Steps in the Expansion of our Territory | — Overland to China |
| Avery, A History of the United States and its People | Day, A History of Commerce |
| Bancroft (H. H.), Works | De Lannoy and Vander Linden, Histoire de l'Expansion Coloniale des Peuples Européens |
| Botsford, History of the Orient and Greece | Donaldson, The Public Domain |
| — History of Rome | Dow, Atlas of European History |
| Boulger, History of China | |

The area directly subject to an archbishop is indicated by surface coloring. In Italy the dioceses were so numerous that no attempt has been made to trace their boundaries. The dates refer to the founding of the bishopric or monastery concerned.

The insertion of the names of comparatively so large a number of monasteries in France and Germany is designed to give an idea of their approximate distribution, in those countries, among the several orders mentioned. Many monasteries, of course, were located in the seats of archbishoprics and bishoprics. The double underlining of a name in the same color shows the place of origin of a particular order; in different colors, the fact that the charge of the monastery shifted from one order to another.

For details in the vicinity of Rome see p. 96.

By reference to the figures in each column, it will be seen, that the colored strips extending from one vertical line to another indicate the maximum number of slaves, or of pounds of a certain agricultural product, recorded during any of the decennial years. The shorter strips are proportioned to size to this representation of the maximum number. In the absence of any ship, the figures alone mean that the number of slaves, or of pounds of a certain agricultural product, was less than one tenth of the maximum.

The purpose of this chart is to suggest a possible relation between the sectionalization of slavery and the growth of the staple agricultural products in the Southern States. Unfortunately the Reports of the Census Bureau of the United States, from which the figures are taken, do not supply agricultural statistics before 1840. — Although a slave-holding State, Delaware is not included in the list, because the amount of any of the staple agricultural products raised there was too small for the purpose of comparison.

Area of the Original Thirteen States

Slave (red)

Free (green)

Free territory by the Missouri Compromise, 1820

Free State admitted from the area subject to the Missouri Compromise

Slave State admitted from the area subject to the Missouri Compromise

Free by the Missouri Compromise, slave by addition to Missouri in 1836

Open to slavery by the Missouri Compromise

Free by the Missouri Compromise, but opened to slavery by the Compromise of 1850

Territory acquired from Mexico in 1848; free by Mexican law, but opened to slavery by the compromise of 1850

Free State, admitted from the territory acquired from Mexico

Free territory by act of organization, 1848

The areas opened to slavery under the principle of the Kansas-Nebraska Act of 1854 are indicated by the red lettering. The territorial organization shown in the map is that of 1854.

The dates of immediate abolition, or of the beginnings of gradual emancipation, by State action before 1861 are printed thus: 1780; those of immediate abolition by State or national action between 1861 and 1865 are printed thus: 1863.

No reference is made to the "Dred Scott dicta" of 1857, or to the Emancipation Proclamation of 1863; because, legally, the one did not authorize the introduction of slavery into the Territories any more than the other effected the abolition of slavery in the Southern States.

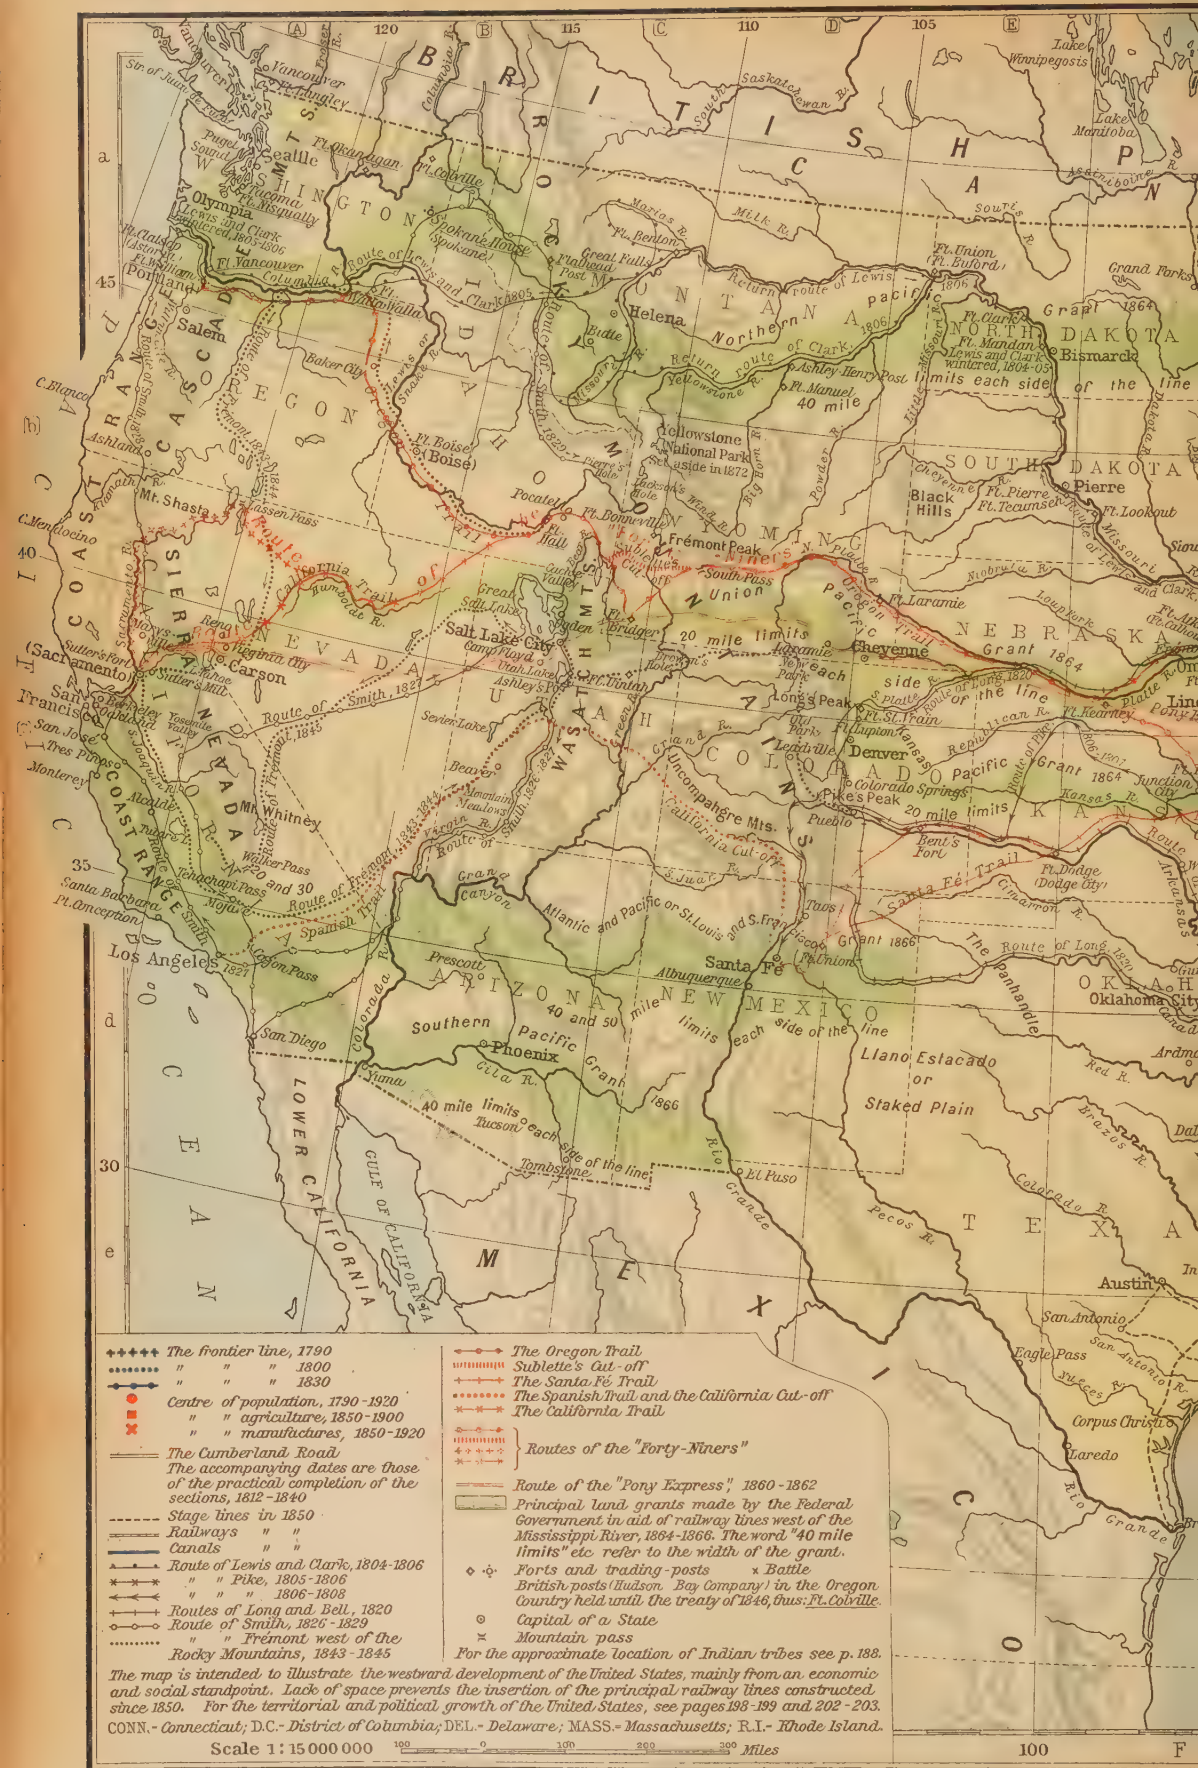

The area east of the present State of Oregon formed part of Washington Territory in 1852. The names printed in thin capitals are those of States admitted subsequent to 1854.

INDEX

UNLESS otherwise indicated, the names given are those of towns. The Index does not furnish a complete set of references to the more important countries at successive periods of time. The maps needful for this purpose may be found by consulting the Table of Contents.

Modern names of ancient localities and different spellings of the same name are sometimes inclosed in parentheses, sometimes noted by cross-references. Though not appearing on the maps themselves, a considerable number of classical and medieval Latin names, and of different spellings of the same name, have been inserted in the Index with the proper cross-reference to the modern or customary form of such names.

If not accompanied by the letters B C., the dates cited are A. D.

The number following a name refers to the page on which the name appears. The capital letter or letters following this number usually refer to a strip on that page inclosed by lines of longitude, and the small letter or letters, to a strip inclosed by lines of latitude. The name itself lies within the block formed by the intersection of the two strips. Thus the name Madrid 83 K g will be found on page 83, within the block formed by the intersection of the strip lettered K and the strip lettered g. In some cases, however, the letter or letters refer to a particular plan or inset on the page concerned.

Changes in names and boundaries since 1910 appear on Maps 164, 165, 166—167, 168, 168B—168C, 170—171, 172, 174—175, 179—182, 184, 203, and 210.
